

Redburn hires Alex Haissl to expand Global Technology research

Redburn (Europe) Ltd, the leading equity research and execution firm, today announces that Alex Haissl is joining to expand Redburn's global technology research.

Alex's previous research role was at Berenberg, where he was head of Automotive Equity Research for Europe and the US, and before that at Credit Suisse. Alex spent the majority of his time on technological themes, including coverage of Tesla. More recently Alex founded Keewau, an online training and development company. Alex began his career in the Vienna Police Force and is a former member of the Austrian National Triathlon Team.

Nick Delfas and Steve East, Co-Heads of Research Services at Redburn, commented: "Alex is an innovative thinker with a proven track record of success in equity research and a wide understanding of the equity market. We welcome him to the firm."

ENDS

Notes to editors

Media contacts:

Kathryn Cleaver Teamspirit redburn@teamspirit.uk.com

About Redburn

Redburn is built upon a commitment to intellectual freedom, commercial research, best execution and premium client service. Redburn was founded in 2003, and has grown from 14 employees to 200. Redburn provides institutional investors with equity research, quantitative and technical analysis, economics research and agency execution in European and North American equity markets. In addition to research and execution, Redburn Access links investors to Redburn's network of industry executives and independent experts. Redburn has offices in London, Paris, Madrid, New York and Boston. www.redburn.com